PARIS, Sept. 26.—October 10 was chosen by French military observers today as the date on which Germany will strike—by way of Belgium, Holland and Switzerland—in a desperate effort to mow down French defenses and sweep through to a swift victory for Nazism in Europe by springtime.

During the next two weeks, artillery engagements in the Saar valley and along the Rhine are expected to intensify in violence and scope. But the Germans will not have until that time troops in sufficient numbers in readiness to launch the tremendous offensive upon which Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's hopes are based.

Jacob Leskowitz, of Bessemer, brought Pa New an egg for his breakfast on Monday. The egg, laid by a chicken at Mr. Leskowitz's farm, was only 3-4 of an inch long and about one half inch in diameter. Pa New has been given a lot of extra large eggs, but this is the first time he has been given such a small one.

According to Dr. T. F. Nugent, veterinarian who has tested many cattle in Lawrence County, herds are comparatively free from tuberculosis, only a few isolated cases being found. As New Castle gets its milk supply from neighboring farms it is comforting to know that it is from healthy cows.

This is the traditional melancholy time of year, but Pa New hasn't seen anything to weep over yet. The trees are still green, flowers blooming, sun shining and breezes balmy. In fact, it's the ideal time of year when you can get real comfort and enjoyment out of life. The fellow who calls it a melancholy time must have a bad liver.

Where Will The Nazis Strike?

The big question facing the Allies as Germany turned her armed might from Poland to the Western Front is: where will the Nazi war machine strike? The arrows on the map indicate four possibilities of action and are the basis of Franco-English strategy. The arrows point to the Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg and Switzerland. WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—The generals of opposing congressional armies in the neutrality fight plotted strategy today.

Administration submission of a bill substituting strict cash-and-carry neutrality law for the existing act's ban on sale of arms and munitions to belligerents, sharply marked out the field of conflict.

Britain Also Angered Over Sinking By Germans Of Swedish Vessels

NO REPORT ON ANY NAVAL ENGAGEMENT

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 25.—British suspicions of Russia's reported double-pronged menace against the small nations of the Baltic and Balkans was shown today in black headlines in the evening press.

"Red Army arrives on Estonian border," said the Evening Star. "Rumania fears Soviet Coup; 100 divisions near border," the Evening News proclaimed.

Second Swedish Ship Sunk

Britain also showed anger over the sinking of a second Swedish merchant ship by a German submarine on the excuse that she carried wood pulp and cellulose which the Germans said was contraband. The ship was the Silesia, 2850 tons, bound from Gothenburg for Hull. Her crew of 19 took to lifeboats and were picked up off the Norwegian coast by the Swedish steam-ship Svea. Sunday the Gertrud Blatt was torpedoed by a German submarine.

According to the London Daily sketch today, Swedish ships en route to England have been ordered by radio to speed to the nearest ports.

Demand Convoys

Swedish shipowners, the sketch said, are reported to be demanding British convoys for boats carrying pulp and cellulose to England. A deputation of owners, it was said, called on the Swedish foreign minister and demanded that he protest to Berlin against the sinking. The roar of guns heard off the western coast of Norway yesterday found no explanation in official British quarters today. Islanders off Bergen even reported seeing smoke clouds, the funnels of a large ship, and airplanes.

But the British admiralty said "we have received no report of a naval engagement off the Norwegian coast, as would have been the case, had one occurred."

Reuters agency today picked up an Italian wireless broadcast telling of the first mention in the Italian press of the possible collapse of Germany's westward line of fortifications.

The Giornale d'Italia was quoted as saying, "The Lilies should bear in mind that even the collapse of the Westwall probably would bring the allied armies into contact with fresh German troops."

Chancellor Adolf Hitler yesterday visited the Polish front east of the Bzura river, then went to the Warsaw front, inspecting troops and looking over Polish prisoners.

OPPONENTS IN NEUTRALITY BATTLE PLANNING STRATEGY

committee sessions Thursday, Friday and Saturday will send the legislation to the senate floor for debate opening Monday.

In the meantime the battle will get underway over the radio waves. Chairman Pittman, of the foreign relations committee, will open for the New Deal, with a speech Wednesday night. Sunday both sides will be represented in a radio debate with Pittman again speaking for the administration forces.

Glass May Speak

Pittman hopes to get the powerful oratory of aged Senator Carter Glass (D) Virginia, on the air soon. Glass, always an effective speaker, is regarded as particularly valuable in this fight because he is so seldom found in the New Deal camp and, in this instance, is such an ardent supporter of the administration position.

The "hands-off" warning sent to administration chiefs by congressional leaders of the cash-and-carry fight followed appearances of "ideas" emanating from the White House, the state and justice departments for "outside help" in the battle. Pittman and his colleagues sent word to these sources that the fight for cash-and-carry legislation was going well, and this proffered "outside help" would interfere with their program.

This warning rejected a White House offer of conference with committee members. It also turned down state department suggestions for a letter or speech from a noted international law expert, and a move seeking a speech by Attorney General Frank Murphy setting forth the legality of the administration position.

Pittman moved to bulwark the New Deal program today with a statement seeking to controvert the argument that the proposed cash-and-carry neutrality act would ruin the American Merchant Marine. His statement admitted possible adverse effects on the merchant marine, but argued that as a result of cutting off traffic to belligerents in Europe, a new and permanent trade would be built up with South America. He added that even if heavy trade sacrifices were involved, removal of the danger of submarine warfare against American ships was worth the price.

FIFTY MISSING IN COAST STORM

boats and private yachts, but the fate of three vessels with more than 20 persons aboard remained unknown.

Hunt Wrecked Ships

Seven U. S. coast guard boats and four navy destroyers continued to battle heavy seas as they carried on rescue work and search for wrecked ships.

Storm warnings of a southeast gale were displayed early today but weather observers were hopeful, as the wind moderated, that the storm's intensity would continue to decrease.

An all-time record rainfall over many southern California districts accompanied the gale.

The wrecked and abandoned sloop Conchita was found three miles off the Santa Monica breakwater last night. Seven persons were believed to have perished in the wreck. It was registered to David W. Brown, of Alhambra, who was reported to have left the Catalina Island Sunday with six members of his family aboard.

Worst Tragedy

Perhaps the worst tragedy of the storm was the capsizing Sunday of the 48-foot fishing boat Spray. Twenty-four persons were still missing, and little hope was held for finding any of them alive. Only two persons aboard the Spray were saved, Miss Geneva Force, 23, and Abe Agains, Los Angeles.

Both gave only meager details concerning the wreck, save to relate that the boat was perhaps 75 yards from the Point Mugu pier when it was hit by a huge wave and turned turtle. Neither could tell how they got ashore.

More than 100 yachts were marooned at Catalina Island. Motion picture celebrities who survived the terrific gale which buffeted their craft Sunday and Monday included John Ford, Hedy Lamar, Gene Markey, Lola Lane, Errol Flynn and his wife, Lili Damita.

RETURNS TO DUTY

Howard Richards, city policeman, has returned to duty following a several days stay in the Jameson Memorial hospital for observation.

Large Scale Action Near?

The possibility that large-scale action by the French may come soon was seen in the statement of military observers in Paris that preliminary "contact work" by French advance posts, which have been pushed ahead steadily for three weeks in spite of bitter counter-attacks, now were virtually completed in many sectors.

These areas included Saarbrücken, Bliksastel, and Zweibrücken, where French artillery has been brought into Germany territory, within easy range of the main German lines.

French authorities today semi-officially denied the German communique which said eight French pursuit planes were brought down last week.

Two Planes Shot Down

Two French planes, it was admitted, were shot down, but one pilot escaped in a parachute and later rejoined his squadron.

Air activity indicated the preparation of a large-scale offensive. Germany's tactics at present seem to be based on the use of attack planes in large numbers. But first the skies must be cleared of opposition pursuit craft, and so far the operation, say the French, is proving far more successful.

On the front between Lauterbourg and Basle the opposing troops "opened the war" by glaring across the Rhine and hanging out signs: "One people, one Reich, one leader," on the German side.

"Liberty, equality, fraternity," on the French.

But now intense artillery fire is replacing the signboard war.

Edmund Whiteman, of 319 Phillips street, wonders who can remember a spring that once flowed west of South Mill street, where the Scarazzo coal yard now operates. Driving hither and yon in an effort to help use up the gas surplus, Pa. New notes that turkeys are conspicuous by their absence from most farms. Some few small flocks are seen, but it appears that the larger turkey raisers have found that there's no fun in raising turkeys just to see them eat. As Thanksgiving comes earlier this year, those who are feeding turkeys will be able to save a little at the expense of cutting off heads.

Henry Sines, who used to keep track of the game pretty closely, and is still interested in wild life. He thinks that there is going to be a pretty good supply of rabbits during the coming hunting season, but is of the opinion that in some sections the foxes are killing off plenty of them. Since the bounty was taken off foxes, and the price of their pelts went down, there has not been as many killed as formerly. With the war on and the price of fur now going up, it is probable that more foxes will be killed.

It's a matter of common knowledge that large losses have been sustained by the Home Owners Loan Corporation, notwithstanding that many sales of properties foreclosed have been made. In a recent statement it was shown that the corporation has already sustained losses amounting to fifty-six million dollars. The loss generally runs around one thousand dollars a house. Not only this, but here in New Castle, we presume everywhere else, the resale of properties taken at foreclosure, at prices below their values, have worked a hardship on other real estate.

The Home Owners Loan was a boon at the time it was launched, but now it's a headache.

The poultry business seems to be a growing one in Lawrence county. During the past summer several very large poultry houses have been erected in different parts of the county, and also a number of smaller houses. Poultry offers a reasonably quick way of turning farm products into cash, and also a means of making a profit, even where feed has to be purchased.

Henry J. Lehman, of the Harlanburg road, brought an onion to the office of The News, which weighed a pound and a quarter, which was grown from a seed secured from Iowa last spring. dropped on Germany on night flights during which the Reich was "penetrated to a considerable depth," the ministry of information disclosed in detail how this war of words is being carried on.

The leaflets, informing the German people that Reichsführer Adolf Hitler's plan for a "lightning war" had been dashed, were handled in the following manner, according to the ministry:

"The pamphlets were packed into bundles the approximate size of a heavy brick and released to fall in particular areas reaching inhabitants in selected towns and cities."

"The crews worked at top speed. As the 'bricks' fell, the pamphlets spread in a paper shower that for the most part fell in the right places."

"Paper-Raids Made
"Last night one of Germany's big industrial cities was paper-raided. The attack set the warning sirens screaming in Berlin itself."

"The 'bricks' were released fifty miles from town. By the time the wind and gravity had carried the pamphlets to the street, our aircraft was well on the way home."

"The raids have shown a high degree of navigational skill, and their value has proved considerable. They have given millions of persons in Germany an opportunity to receive authoritative presentation of the allies case and have been useful for reconnaissance as well."

"What the German high command thinks of their moral effect is quite clear from the heavy penalties imposed upon persons gathering and reading the pamphlets."

POLICEMEN SAY BELL ABUSIVE

Bell, Hagan said Bell was boisterous and profane. Bell refused to walk out to the police car, and four police carried him. He was taken to jail, then to the hospital to have his suit dressed.

Hagan said that he had drawn his gun on Bell in the patrol wagon on the way to the hospital, because Bell had a knife in his hand, as he was not handcuffed at that time.

Dr. Paul Wilson dressed Bell's wounds, and he was returned to the police station.

Known As "Hard Guy"

Cross examined, Hagan said police had no search warrant, but Bell invited them into his rooms. Hagan further stated that Bell had the reputation of being a "hard guy" and was known as the "Cowboy of Moravia street."

Policeman Walter Tewell was the next witness. He said that when policemen arrived at Bell's home he denied any trouble, and invited them to come in and look around. He told about the trouble in the room substantially as the former witness.

Regarding the pulling of a gun by Hagan on the way to the hospital, Tewell said that Bell had a knife and was coming toward the front of the patrol wagon. Witness did not see anybody kick Bell as he was being taken up the elevator in the hospital. He would not walk back to the patrol wagon after his wounds had been dressed and had to be carried. Tewell said that he had hit Bell once on the head when Bell had kicked him in the stomach. He had also hit Bell about the legs with the strap of his mace.

Officer Jack Thompson testified that he was with the other officers at the Bell home. He had been with Officer Price in a cruiser car and responded to a radio call. He met Suber and the other at the Bell home. Thompson said Bell kicked him and that he then handcuffed him.

Dr. Bissell, superintendent at the Jameson Memorial hospital, told about hearing Bell swearing when he was brought in. At no time was Bell unconscious according to the physician.

Dr. Hoffmaster, who happened in the hospital had heard Bell swearing and acting in a loud and boisterous manner. George Price, police officer, had arrested Bell on February 25, on a previous charge, and had found knives and a gun at his home.

The case is still on trial.

Behind this curtain of artillery fire, the Germans concentrated in ever-growing numbers, particularly in the vicinity of Aachen (Aix-La-Chapelle) across the border from Belgium. There is a similar massing of troops north of the Swiss frontier.

"Double Envelopment?"

There is an almost unanimous conviction in Paris that the Germans will stage a "double envelopment" attack, the right flank sweeping through Belgium and Holland and the left through Switzerland—just as the Germans overran Poland from Germany proper, East Prussia and Slovakia in the south.

According to information obtainable in Paris, it will take the Germans another two weeks to mass sufficient troops and mechanized equipment to lend this gamble in men and machines any chance of success.

However, the attack must be made by October 10 or shortly thereafter because of weather conditions. It will be cutting it pretty finely at that if the Nazis' phenomenal weather luck should run out and the wet season start a few days early.

Deaths of the Day

Roy B. McCown

Roy B. McCown, of 1042 Maryland avenue, died suddenly at about noon today in his home and was found by his son, J. Edgar McCown, who resides at the same address.

News of Mr. McCown's death is a shock to his many friends, for he was apparently in his usual health and had worked this morning at the Premier Division, Electric Vacuum Cleaner company, where he was employed as serviceman. It is believed he left for lunch at about the usual time.

Mr. McCown was a widower and has two sons, one of whom lives in Bradford. The funeral arrangements will be published with the obituary tomorrow.

James Poulos

James Poulos, aged about 48 or 50 years, a former resident of New Castle, who died in the Dixmont hospital near Pittsburgh, was brought to the Ritchie funeral home in New Castle Monday.

Funeral services are to be conducted Wednesday at 2 p.m. in St. George Greek Orthodox church, and interment will be in Greenwood cemetery.

Louis Felix Funeral

Louis Felix died in the Jameson Memorial hospital Sunday as the result of internal injuries received last Wednesday when he ran into a fire hydrant while playing with some other boys. He was operated on Thursday and peritonitis developed.

Funerals this morning were Tully Velton, Guy West, John Masters, Lawrence Pisano, Mike Mangino and Carman Fusco. Interment was in St. Lucy's cemetery.

Aerial "Dog-Fight" Occurred Is Report Coming From Switzerland

(International News Service)
BASLE, Switzerland, Sept. 26.—An aerial dog-fight occurred in the skies near Basle today.

Identity of the fighting planes or the actual number engaged in combat was not determined immediately.

It was thought possible that German planes had intercepted allied planes attempting another raid such as that which, according to Swiss sources, took place yesterday at the former Zeppelin works at Friedrichshafen on Lake Constance.

Several puffs of white smoke burst into the clear blue sky, apparently resulting from explosion of anti-aircraft shells.

The firing broke out at 2:10 p.m. and lasted for five minutes. Townspeople rushed to the streets as the guns boomed.

Collegian Has Cycled More Than 15,000 Miles

ROBT. ERZINGER

NEW WILMINGTON, Sept. 26.—Robert Erzinger, Westminster college sophomore, estimates that he has cycled 15,000 miles in the past two years, at a total cost of $15 for his cycle and $3.50 in accessories.

No wonder the Peoria, Illinois, collegian says: "Cycling is the best of all sports, at the same time the most fun, and at the same time the cheapest way to travel. I have averaged one-fifth of a cent a mile on cycle-trips."

Erzinger has cycled through England and Scotland, through Canada twice, and two times each year cycles back and forth between his home in Illinois and Westminster college, a round-trip of 1200 miles.

On long cycling trips, Erzinger lives on a dollar a day; sleeps under trees on hilltops to keep away from dew and mosquitoes; lives almost altogether on fruit along the roadside for breakfasts and "snacks"; and "dresses up" to go to bed... adding to his shorts and T-shirt, a pair of trousers, woolen gloves, a sweater, stocking cap, and a muffler.

"The ideal cycling trip," according to the cycling collegian, is for two weeks, through a fairly hilly country. Two companions are better than one, or riding alone.

If cyclists are careful on the highways, there is no need for accidents, Erzinger believes. Kindest people the collegian found were policemen and farmers.

New Castle Driver Has Trouble In Stopping His Car

BUTLER, Pa., Sept. 26.—A wildly careening car tore out mail-boxes and broke off a tree at Unionville Sunday night in a wild dash from a side road, State Motor Policeman P. M. Mato reported.

A car, said to have been driven by Dean Agnew of 12 East Wallace avenue, New Castle, came to the intersection at Unionville and state motor police said Agnew failed to see the stop sign and that his car went out onto the Slippery Rock-Butler highway at a speed in excess of 40 miles an hour.

Agnew swung his car toward the north and the car got out of control, struck and knocked off several mail boxes, clipped a cherry tree eight inches in diameter and came to rest against the residence of F. L. Martosoff, Butler R. D. 5. Damage was estimated at $100.

Lucy Rubert, aged 16, of 119 South Lincoln avenue, New Castle, suffered bruises to the nose, stomach and leg.

Rabelais knew the therapeutic value of books for the ill.

As a physician, he wrote books to divert his patients.

Does the patient need a stimulant or a sedative?

Is he a restless, excitable patient, or a calm, quiet one?

Is he bored, depressed, somnolent or wakeful?

Tuberculous patients should not read the life of the Brontës.

deed a magnificent auditorium and, hushing everything from wrestling matches to Morris Gest's passion play, it somehow kept going. Back in the gold rush days there was a plan to replace it with a 100-story skyscraper, but that was out, on and after a certain doleful day in October, 1929.

Probably the most deeply impressive hour in the old playhouse was on the night of Armistice Day in 1918. James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, spoke eloquently to the vast audience. Other speakers invoked all the civilized enlightenment of mankind, to the end "that this shall not happen again." There was a surge of re-joicing that the tragic horror was forever ended and the great throng rose and sang feelingly "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow". The old Hipp was a temple of peace—for an hour.

Westminster May Have 750 Students

Total Enrollment Is Not As Yet Completed — Change Thanksgiving Schedule

(Special To The News) NEW WILMINGTON, Sept. 26.—Total Westminster college enrollment, for 1939-40 stood at 709 today, with a total of 720 expected within the next few days, due to late registrations. High mark in the past was 703 students in 1934-35.

Extension classes in New Castle will increase this number to approximately 750 for total registration.

In conjunction with other district colleges, Thanksgiving holiday will be moved forward one week so that Thanksgiving can be celebrated Nov. 23 instead of Nov. 30. Since the last football game for the Titans is Nov. 18, the change in holiday dates had no bad effects on the athletic set-up.

Westminster, broadcasting from its campus studio, the McGill library, returns to the air Sunday, October 1, with a program featuring President R. F. Galbreath in "Great Books in the Greatest of All Books," at 4:15 o'clock.

Corset Factories Are Now Working Overtime

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—This started out to be a story about how Americans are flooding the gas mask factories with orders. But we found out that it isn't so and that the corset factories that are working overtime, isn't that silly?
Two gas mask factories reported that they sold about 100 masks each to persons contemplating a trip to Europe. Nobody on the home front apparently has reached the gas mask jitters stage.
With corsets it's different. One New York store sold 600 of the "very stiff ones" in practically no time and a more flexible model, which operates something like a one-man top on an open car, is selling in figures which nobody can even guess at.
Webster described the corset as a "garment worn close to the body during the middle ages." That's what he thought. Currently it appears that the corset is here to stay (and).
Primary object of the new garment is to hold woman together where her "masonry" has given way. It is also a form of penance for too rich desserts.

Rural Route Number 7 Will Be Absorbed By Three Other Local Routes

One of the New Castle post office's rural mail routes, R. F. D. 7, will be absorbed by Routes 1, 6 and 8, on October 14, Assistant Postmaster James G. Leslie announced today.
"This means no change in the service," Leslie explained. "The order to abandon the route came out of Washington. Formal instructions came this week. We were told to institute the change Monday, October 16."
Claude T. Reno, the Route 7 carrier for 18 years, formally retired from the postal service August 31. Since then the route has been served by a substitute, George Crable.
The department notified the office several months ago that a change would probably come, but deferred making it effective until this fall.
Route 7, 30.7 miles long, will be merged into the three named routes. Service will continue as usual, although for some patrons it will necessitate a change in the location of mail boxes. Some must be located on the opposite side of the road from the place they now stand.
With the abandonment of Route 7, the New Castle post office now has but seven rural routes to serve. Another, Route 9, was abandoned several years ago.
Carriers whose routes will be affected by the Route 7 abandonment will include Wylie E. Patton, Route 1; Charles McCandless, Route 6; and Jess Boak, Route 8.

The four convicts were Joseph Mushro and Thomas McCarthy, of Detroit, serving life terms for a Hamtramck murder; Ralph Stearns, of Detroit, serving life for a series of armed robberies; and John Thompson, of Pontiac, serving 20 to 30 years for robbery armed.
The quartet, armed with the blackened wooden gun and knives, raided a parole commission hearing room yesterday and forced Warden Marvin L. Coon, Deputy Warden William Newcombe, Parole Commission Chairman A. Ross Pascoe and Parole Commissioner Gerald Bush, to act as hostages as they fled in the warden's personal automobile.
Word of the break was sent out ahead of the sped toward the Wisconsin state line, but all officers were warned not to shoot because of the threats the convicts made against the lives of their hostages.
Outside Menominee a large posse gathered behind a barricade of trucks. Mushro evaded the barricade, but six miles further on lost control of the car as the pursuers closed in on him.

Postal clerks called attention to the let-up in mail destined for foreign lands.

Postal officials said the decrease in the foreign volume will be far more noticeable within a month or so when the customary mailing period for foreign Christmas gifts comes around.

BRITISH WARNED BY CHAMBERLAIN ON OVER-OPTIMISM

of raw materials ensuring her ability to continue hostilities despite the British blockade.
"Never," he said at one point, "have our people been more united and more determined."
Chamberlain again paid tribute to the heroism of Polish defenders of Warsaw and the Heila Peninsula "who are holding out against continuous bombardment."
Many attacks have been made on German submarines, he said, and added:
"On the western front, the French have continued to make progress, and have succeeded, notwithstanding increasingly energetic German reaction, in maintaining all gains intact."
Chamberlain expressed his appreciation of increasing material and human assistance from the Dominions. He warned again that the nation's air defenses, despite the inconveniences of blackouts and air raid warnings, cannot be relaxed.
"They must," he said, "be maintained at a strength capable of meeting the air menace by which we are constantly threatened."

Denies German Charges
Negotiations are proceeding with neutral nations, Chamberlain said, to simplify the procedure of contraband control.
Chamberlain denied German charges that Britain is interfering with the rights of neutrals.
"Germany should be the last to make this accusation," he said, "at a time when their submarines are attacking all shipping coming to these islands with complete and callous disregard for humanity and the rules of submarine warfare."
Reaffirming Britain's war aim, the prime minister declared:
"The British people are resolved to rid themselves once and for all of the perpetual threat of German aggression, of which Poland is only the latest instance."
"We and France entered the war to rid ourselves and the world of that menace. Our peoples are united as never before in their resolve to achieve that purpose."

Police Officers Present Defense

Testify In Trial At Court After Prosecution Ends Testimony

SUBER IS FIRST OFFICER ON STAND

Lieutenant Cecil Suber and Officers James Hagan and Walter Tewell opened their defense against charges of aggravated assault and battery upon Henry F. Bell, Monday afternoon in court room number two.

The commonwealth closed its case at 1:55 with the testimony of William Pryor and William Collier who had been in the neighborhood of 1119 Moravia street on the night of May 27, 1939, when the incident out of which the case arose, occurred.

Pryor and Collier both testified they had seen the police car near 1119 Moravia street and had seen officers in Bell's apartment on the second floor. Both testified to having seen some officer strike Bell.

Defense Opens
Attorney Edwin K. Logan opened the case for the defense at two o'clock and told the jury they would prove this case was fomented by radical elements, that an organization was merely doing their duty on the night of May 27 and that a verdict of acquittal would be asked and that the defense would also ask that the costs be placed upon the real prosecutors.

Walter Dickson, colored, of Moravia street was the third defense witness called. He testified that on February 25 he had assisted in taking Benny Dickson home to the same floor at 1119 Moravia street as Bell lives. That Bell had become abusive and threatening and fearing trouble, Walter had taken a rifle which Bell kept. Later as he was walking up Moravia street with two other men, Bell had come out in his automobile, had demanded the gun, started to fight and flash a couple of butcher knives. Dickson hit Bell with the butt of the gun he said. He said Bell was right enough chap when he was sober but a bad, dangerous man when he was drunk.

Call Was Received
Police Sergeant Grover C. Syling established that there had been a call for the police on the night of May 27 when a woman called him and said a man was drunk and brandishing a gun at 1119 Moravia street. Following the police routine Sergeant Syling notified Cruiser Car number 1 and recorded the call.

Mr. Sloan has been a long and successful career as a preacher and as an evangelist. Special music will be provided for each service.

Call Mayor McGrath
Mayor Charles E. McGrath was called and said he found a report of Bell's arrest on his desk on the morning of May 28, 1939.

Cross Examined by Attorney Jas. Keller
The mayor said the case was no different than many other cases that he had discharged Bell from the charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct because he felt that the night in jail had been punishment enough. He also testified to several colored men coming to his office the same morning and charging that Bell had been assaulted.

James Smith and Ray Owen
Both colored were called and corroborated the earlier testimony of Walter Dickson that there had been a fight on the night of February 25 and that Bell had drawn a couple of butcher knives. This testimony closed the afternoon session of court.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright 1939, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

THE CHILD WHO LIVES IN THE PANTRY

In any case of obesity in a child the first step toward correcting the condition is to consult your doctor and let him give the child a thorough examination. He will probably make a careful survey to see whether it is a gland that is causing the trouble. The thyroid gland is usually at the bottom of such a disturbance and if it is the offender, symptoms present will help the physician to recognize it readily. Even if the case is doubtful there are tests he can make to determine the point.

When obesity occurs in a child whose parents also are fat it is sometimes difficult to decide whether the condition is due to a constitutional defect or to overeating. Often it is a combination of the two.

Lack of exercise is not often a cause of obesity in a young child because most children get sufficient exercise occasionally however we run across a child who isn't interested in games, but who would rather stay inside with a book. I'm afraid I may have been in this class when I was a child. I was pretty fat for my height. I guess I didn't exercise enough.

Overeating is by all odds the most frequent cause of obesity. Usually the fat child is the one who eat large meals and is hungry an hour after she has eaten and keeps running to the pantry for snacks between meals.

As you will recall, we had some trouble with the Quints weight this spring. They weighed from 50 to 52 pounds each, which was about two pounds more than they should.

They were far from obese and lots of children are much more overweight than they were.

However we keep a close check on their weights—as parents of all children should do—and the moment we saw they were a pound or so more than normal we cut off some of their starches and sugars and in a few weeks they were normal again.

If parents would do this with children—catch the overweight when it is only a couple of pounds instead of waiting until it is ten or twelve pounds, it wouldn't be nearly so difficult to correct the condition.

I know what causes most children to be overweight—they eat what they like when they like. There is one little girl I know who is far too heavy, although her mother says she is just plump. She is a favorite with all the neighbors and she is constantly given ice cream cones and chocolate bars by her friends. Then when she comes home at night, she makes for the kitchen and has a snack before she has her supper.

Is it any wonder this child is overweight? She eats enough in a day to suffice for two moderate-sized men. Such a child is a problem, for her stomach is used to being over-stuffed and it isn't satisfied unless it is full. Such a child must be taken in hand and placed on a rigorous diet. Meals must be superintended, starches and sugars cut down. There must be no eating between meals and above all the friends who have been showering her with candy should be asked to desist.

If it is the thyroid that is causing the overweight and not overeating, then your doctor can deal with the condition.

Eight of the mortgages were given to building and loan associations in the amount of $14,800; five were given to individuals, for a total of $11,700, three for a total of $2,350 were given to banks, and one to an insurance company for $20,000.

Victor Sosone and Rocco Mancino, who entered pleas in connection with "numbers" cases, were sentenced by Judge W. Walter Braham to each pay $500 and costs, or six months to the county jail. The defendants both paid their fines and costs and were released.

Helen Duda has issued a writ of habeas corpus against her husband, John Duda, to secure possession of their two-year-old son, Larry Lee Duda. In her complaint Mrs. Duda asserts that she was compelled to leave her husband on account of his treatment of her. At the time she left she was not in a position to take care of her son, and left him with the father temporarily. The child has been at the home of her husband's mother. Mrs. Duda says that she now has a home in which she can take care of the boy, but that her husband will not give him up. Judge W. Walter Braham has fixed September 29 at 9 o'clock a. m. to hear the case.

The election return board, which has been making the official count of the vote cast at the recent primary, has completed the city count, but does not yet have the figures totaled. The greater part of the county vote has also been tabulated and the official figures will be given in a few days.

Some rules which assessors, now making the triennial assessments must follow are interesting. For instance, when land is divided by a county line, it is all assessed in the county where the house and domicile stands, but if it is divided by a township line, that is not a county line, it is assessed so that each part is assessed in the township in which it is situated.

Whenever the dividing line between any township, city or borough, shall pass through the house located thereon, the owner of the land so divided may choose his place of residence in either township or borough.

To Check Constipation Get at Its Cause!

If constipation has you down so you feel heavy, tired and dopey, it's time you did something about it. And something more than just taking a physic! You should get at the cause of the trouble.

If you eat the super-refined food most people eat, the chances are the difficulty is simple—you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean heavy food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines.

If this common form of constipation is your trouble, eat Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day and drink plenty of water. All-Bran isn't a medicine—it's a crunchy, toasted, nutritious cereal. And it will help you not only to get regular but to keep regular, day after day. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

State On Verge Of Real Business Revival Is Governor's Report

State Officials Are Encouraged

Business Upturn And Tax Decision May Eliminate Special Session

BIG INCREASE IN JOBS REPORTED

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Sept. 26.—Pennsylvania was today pictured as on the verge of a business revival which might make a special session of the legislature unnecessary, in a highly optimistic report in which Gov. Arthur H. James called upon business men to provide the necessary impetus.

Secretary of Commerce Richard P. Brown urged unemployed workers that "now is the time to look for jobs" as he prophesied that from 50,000 to 100,000 people in Pennsylvania will find new employment within the next few months.

May Restore Prosperity
Governor James, greatly encouraged by yesterday's state supreme court decision upholding the validity of the foreign franchise tax with a consequent saving to the state of at least $35,000,000 in revenue, intimated that if Pennsylvania business and the WPA did their share, prosperity might be restored to the state.

The chief executive urged employers to hire only state residents. He said that due to the increased business resulting from the European war and the state's favorable position in this respect, due to its large steel and coal business, industry would soon need many additional men.

Governor James criticized the WPA for its failure, he said, to fill its September quota of 150,000. At present, he said, the WPA was employing 122,000 persons, 28,000 under the quota.

"This is a serious situation to the 28,000 on relief who should be placed at work on projects," he wrote State WPA Administrator Philip Mathews and National WPA Administrator F. C. Harrington in Washington.

WPA Administration Is Hit

Charging that there was something "radically wrong with the administration of the WPA," Governor James contended that the failure to employ the full quota "is costing the taxpayers $28,000 a day or a monthly amount of $840,000."

Governor James said the state had provided ample projects and that it was now up to the WPA to employ the necessary men.

Adding to the optimistic reports of increased activity throughout the state, notably in the steel and coal centers, the governor reported that one large anthracite coal company was now three months behind on its orders. To this was added the significant statement of John Ira Thomas, secretary of mines, that during the World War coal production increased 400 per cent. An increase of 3,250,000 tons in production over 1938 has already been noted for this year, Thomas reported to the governor.

Commerce Secretary Brown reported a shortage of skilled workers in some industries, adding: "For several months Pennsylvania business and industry has been slowly but steadily improving and the speed with which the improvement is accruing is increasing."

MASSACHUSETTS

PRODUCES BULK OF U. S. CRANBERRIES

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Sept. 26.—Massachusetts is expected to produce almost three-fourths of the nation's 1939 cranberry harvest, the crop report service of the United States Department of Agriculture estimated. Of a total estimated national crop of 629,000 barrels, about 425,000 barrels are expected to come from Bay State bogs.

The estimated national crop of 629,000 barrels represents a sharp increase over the total of 475,000 barrels harvested in 1938. It also tops the 10-year average (1928-1937) of 598,720 barrels.

The estimated Massachusetts crop is 100,000 barrels over the 1938 crop and represents an increase over the 10-year average of 407,600 barrels.

Berries in most bogs are smaller than usual because of dry weather during most of the growing season

Movie Stars Are Hoarding Wigs Because Of War

Many Of Male Actors Need Wigs And Toupees For Pictures

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 26.—Europe's military symphony of saber-clanking has inspired a frantic wave of wig-hoarding among a small but appreciable minority of Hollywood's famous picture personages, according to Make-Up Specialist Max Factor, Jr.

This filmland minority is comprised of those persons—mostly males—whose own hair is not overly abundant and who consequently need the flattering aid of wigs, toupees, or frontpieces, for their picture appearances.

This stellar rush to lay in an abundant reserve stock of hair-goods is inspired by the fact that the most important of the materials which enter into the making of any type of wig are of European origin, with this Continental source of supply now being a highly uncertain matter, at best.

A shortage of the handwoven hairlace which is used for the foundation fabric of the most superior types of wig and toupees will be the first one to be felt, Max Factor, Jr., declares. This hairlace was crafted only in France, Germany, Czechoslovakia, and Belgium, and the wartime demands for all available manpower halted its manufacture in these countries more than six months ago.

Rare Monatee's Death Baffling

New York Aquarium Officials Puzzled By Recent Death

(International News Service)

NEW YORK—The death of its young male Amazon manatee has baffled the New York Aquarium officials.

The manatee, a rare specimen among sea-going mammals, was on display in the aquarium for three weeks before it died. Manatees are commonly known as sea-cows. Since this one was a male, the name doesn't fit. Maybe it was a sea-bull.

Its death hasn't been satisfactorily explained for the aquarium staff. C. W. Coates, head of the staff, said it could not have starved since the month, intestines, and stomach of the animal all contained food and that it still had fat on its body.

The temperature of the animal was normal and it showed no signs of disease.

"The death might have been psychic," Mr. Coates said. "There was no definite physical ailment and so it probably didn't take to life in the tank."

Civil Service Setup Probed

Preliminary Hearing Behind Closed Doors By Joint Legislative Investigating Committee

HARRISBURG, Sept. 26.—The joint legislative committee investigating civil service in the state unemployment compensation division conducted a preliminary hearing today behind closed doors.

Chairman C. Gilbert Wolfenden, Republican senator from the Indiana-Jefferson district, disclosed that three earlier meetings have been held by the committee. Within two weeks, he said, the committee will open its sessions to the public.

Among those questioned privately by the committee, according to Sen. Wolfenden, were Ernest Kells, head of the unemployment compensation division, and Melvin Jacobs, chairman of the State Unemployment Compensation Board of Review.

"We have received numerous letters containing complaints and suggestions," said Wolfenden, "and are getting the utmost cooperation from all concerned in this investigation. The committee's findings will be reported at the next session of the legislature."

The inquiry into the civil service setup climaxed complaints that appointments and examinations for compensation jobs were unfair.

Senate Committee Studies Proposed Neutrality Measure

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—On Monday afternoon, the full foreign relations committee of the senate was presented with a copy of the proposed cash-and-carry neutrality bill which had been drafted by members of the Democratic majority, over the week-end.

The committee remained in session half-an-hour and then adjourned until Thursday to give members an opportunity to study the important legislation.

Besides substituting cash-and-carry neutrality for the present arms embargo, the bill contains several important additions to existing law, and a number of provisions calculated to tighten regulations of arms traffic.

Major Liberalization

Major liberalization came in the financial section. This section of the tentative bill would give foreign purchasers of American goods—war and non-war in character—90 days credit under the cash-and-carry act.

Base of the new proposal, of course, lay in its drastic revision of America's foreign policy, permitting foreign belligerents to buy American munitions, if title changes on American soil and the goods are hauled away on foreign boats.

First of all, the legislation substitutes for the existing law's arms embargo a provision permitting sale of American munitions and other goods to foreign belligerents, when title changes on American soil and the goods are hauled away in foreign boats.

Secondly, the legislation permits congress to invoke the act as well as the president, prescribing a simple concurrent resolution for placing it into operation. Other important provisions of the new bill would:

Important Provisions

1. Impose maximum penalties of $50,000 fine and five years in prison for violation of the proposed law's major sections.

2. Prohibit any and all agencies of the government from trying to "help out" any American manufacturer unsuccessfully seeking to collect payments for goods sold to a foreign belligerent.

3. Permit the president to specify "combat areas" in the oceans through which American vessels and American citizens may not travel.

4. Prohibit travel of Americans on ships of belligerents.

5. Prohibit arming of American merchant vessels.

6. Permits 90-day credits to foreign belligerent governments and long term credits to private firms in such countries under the cash-and-carry neutrality clause of the proposed law.

7. Prohibits solicitation of funds for belligerent governments in the United States, permitting solicitation by individuals for humane purposes such as the Red Cross and similar relief agencies.

8. Restrict use of American ports by belligerent vessels.

9. Compel detailed reports by the munitions control board showing all American arms and munitions exports along with the names of the individual seller and purchaser, and terms of sale.

Flower And Garden Show Is Success At Oak St. School

Announcement Is Made Of Awards at Exhibition At School

All those who saw the Oak street school Flower and Garden Show this past week are still exclaiming over it in quite glowing terms.

The Flower and Garden Show brought to a very successful conclusion a garden project that had its beginning in each class room at the Oak street school last spring. Work in the arithmetic, language, writing, spelling, reading, history, geography, health, art and music classes, for a time, was centered around and based upon the garden theme.

The idea of having a garden project came from the children originally. The plan for the development of such a project was formulated by the principal, Miss Iretta V. Dart, and then carried on by teachers and the boys and girls.

When enthusiasm was at its highest point each child was given three packages of seeds and asked to plant it in the garden at home. The show, just over, was a display of the products raised by the children. It also was visible proof of the worthwhileness of such a project to all who actively participated.

Prize ribbons were awarded by the judges, Mrs. John Brinton and Mrs. C. H. Martin, to the following children for their entries:

Sixth Grade—Uarda Cramer, Patty Jones, Shirley Holter, Delbert Porter, Naomi Kley, Ruth Cooper, Gwendolyn Richards, Dale Baker, Catherine Tonelleo, Jennie Call, Emma Jean Shaffer, James Ramsey, Jean Baker, Delores Strobel, James Padula.

Fifth Grade—Margaret Eddy, Joan Teels, William Merriman, Floyd Book, Marjorie Scullio, Wilda Merriman, Thelma Jones, Charlotte Foster, Betty Klingensmith, Billy Gamble, Joyce Reed, Richard Ridenbaugh, Danny Pendice.

Credit for the success of the Flower and Garden Show goes first to the children for having raised such superior products, then to Mrs. Francis Baldauf and Miss Frances Carlson who guided in setting up the largest and best show Oak street has ever had.

Margiotti Is Still Fighting For Admittance

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26.—Former Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti on Monday took action in Philadelphia common pleas court designed to enable him to carry his fight for admission to practice of law in this city to the state supreme court.

Common Pleas Judge Harry S. McDewitt issued an order permitting exceptions to the lower court's decision barring Margiotti to be filed despite the fact that time for such filing has expired. Acceptance of the former attorney general's exceptions, it was explained, paved the way for appeal to the high tribunal. Six common pleas judges last June upheld the Philadelphia county board of law examiners in its refusal to admit Margiotti to practice here.

Margiotti's exceptions challenged the lower court's statement it had made a "thorough investigation" of the matter and termed its decision ambiguous.

TELLS OF POLLY APPLE

Editor of The New Castle News.

Dear Sir:

I gave Mr. W. H. Cole a sample of the Polly Apple and I informed him I would send a description of Polly Apple later.

Abel Fisher owned the largest grist mill in Lawrence county. The mill consisted of five stories. The Hattenbaugh and North Branch runs came together to run the mill wheel. This wheel had a thirty foot over shot. This mill later, in about 1872 burnt down without a reason. The beautiful new East Brook high school now stands on the site of the old mill race.

E. M. McConnell, my father-in-law, was the man who gave the history to the alderman of the origin of the Austin Sweet. I am married to his oldest daughter, Agnes. We are both crippled and I have not walked for four years. Your paper shall always be highly recommended by us because of the way it stands on the liquor question.

Abel Thomas, Robert Fisher and my father were born in the same year, 1819. Thomas Fisher made the first map of East Brook, with the old compass and Jacob staff. Their mothers started the trees to grow. It took ten years after the seeds were planted until the trees bore fruit. Many times grafts were taken from these trees, but it would be another ten years before its good qualities were developed. My father, being an expert in that line, sent a sample to Hoopes Brothers and Thomas company. They were so well pleased with the apple that they had my father send them grafts. They put these apples at the top of their list. It is interesting to note that at the present time this is the only nurseries in the United States that has this Polly apple tree. It was not long after the nursery began to handle the apple that large orders from near and far began to pour in. One man wanted trees enough to plant ten acres. Many leading magazines have taken pictures of the Polly apple to exhibit.

This is just a brief history of Lawrence county's own apple, which originated at East Brook. I am 86 years old and my wife is in her 85th year.

Gridders Hard At Work, Hope To Top Tigers

New Castle High "Red Hurricane" Going After Third Straight Win Of Year

PLAY THURSDAY AT BEAVER FALLS

New Castle High's big "Red Hurricane" football team is looking for a tough battle Thursday night at Reeves Stadium with the Beaver Falls Tigers at Beaver Falls and for that reason the boys are working hard every afternoon at the stadium to be in shape for the contest. The game will start at 8:00 o'clock.

There are no serious injuries outside of Eddie Sowinski. The team will be in the best possible shape for the battle. The same lineup that started the Butler and Youngstown games will be in there Thursday night. It was indicated today by Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh.

Lauro Marked Man

Beaver Falls opened the season last week by tripping a fast Burgettstown team 13 to 0. The Walcott charges looked rather impressive according to Ernie Reed. The Tigers dropped a 6 to 0 game last year at New Castle and will try hard this year to upset the big New Castle team.

Landy Lauro after his performance last week in which he stole the show at Taggart Stadium will no doubt be a marked man in the game Thursday evening. Lauro much improved over his work of the past two years and is a real triple-threat man. Larry Roberts has yet to find himself this year, but when the colored boy does get the hang of the backfield job again he will be hard to stop. Sammy Ciaza the newcomer fits in very nicely. McKee is looking better and may break into the starting lineup at any time.

The trip to the valley Thursday night will be made by bus. The team will leave the stadium at 7 o'clock.

Panther Football Team Will Board West Coast Planes

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Sept. 26.—The University of Pittsburgh's Panthers today were to board planes for the west coast where they will meet the University of Washington gridders for their initial contest of the season Saturday.

It is believed to be the first air trip ever taken by a combined collegiate football team. Following a heavy practice session yesterday, Coach Charley Bowser named a squad of 34 men to "take off." Only nine of these have ever been in an airplane before and none have ever made an extended flight.

Scholastic Elevens Face Stiff Tests; Franklin, George Washington Open

With the exception of Mahoning junior high, every scholastic gridiron contingent in the county goes to the battle grounds this week. Most of the home clubs invade foreign territory.

New Castle's Canes, undefeated and untied, tie into Beaver Falls on Thursday night in the valley town. Friday's bill of fare finds undefeated but tied Shenango township backing up against Zelenople at Zelenople. George Washington junior high invades Campbell high's lair for its opening clash, while Ben Franklin opens at Sharpsville. Saturday afternoon, Ellwood City's Wolverines play at Rochester. Undefeated and untied Bessemer high risks its enviable record against Ursuline high, at Bessemer. Union township, knocked off by Ellwood Saturday, hopes to hit the winning column in its clash against Glassport, away from home.

Fulton Vs. Rubin's Conqueror; Arkett Gives Wertz Return Whack

Smoky Robinson, amateur lightweight champion of the United States, will have no soft pickin' when he tackles Pete Spotti of Cecil here in a three-round battle in the Arena next Monday night. Spotti has earned several victories here. Robinson's last opponent here was easy game but Spotti may be expected to give him a hard fight; if not defeat Robinson. The fight will be the wind-up of an eight-bout program for the benefit of the St. Vitus Parish children's Christmas fund.

Johnny Fulton of Pittsburgh, a light-heavyweight, will battle Nick La Volpe of Farrell, who twice bested Mickey Rubin, local light-heavyweight.

Billy Conn Retains Title

Conn Batters Former Light-Heavyweight King In Closing Rounds

MELIO LOOKS GOOD IN FIRST SIX ROUNDS

By ED KIELY
International News Service Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 26.—Billy Conn retained his light heavyweight championship today after successfully fending off the southpaw slants of Melio Bettina for 15 grueling rounds last night—but he failed to show the punch he will need if he expects to move up into Joe Louis's class.

Before a record breaking fight crowd at Pittsburgh—17,523 customers—Sweet William gained in on the courageous Italian from Beacon, N. Y., shooting jabs, hooks and crosses to the head and body, but failed to drop his foe even once.

During the final three rounds of the fight, Conn worked out on Bettina like he would a sandbag in a gymnasium, but the hairy-chested challenger, like a sandbag, kept rolling back for more.

Apparently the punch with which the Pittsburgh pride scored a technical knockout over heavyweight Gus Dorazio last time out, failed to function, for in scoring his victory, Conn had many opportunities to show it.

It was not forthcoming, however, and the contest ended with two judges and Referee Red Robinson of Pittsburgh, nodding in Willowly Will's direction.

In defending his recently won title for the first time against the ex-champion, from whom he won the crown last July 13, the lanky Irishman's tactics were similar to those he used in the first fight. The strategy apparently was to let Bettina wear himself down. After six rounds, he did just that.

Don't Like Southpaws

After carrying the fight for the first five rounds, as he did the first time the two boys met, the squat contender ran out of gas. And it was at this point that Conn added the necessary petrol to steam on to a decisive victory.

The upstate New Yorker opened the fight by mauling and punching the champ around Promoter Mike Jacobs' green-plush ring. He opened a small gash above Billy's left eye as early as the second round. He picked up speed in the next three rounds, working his left hand in Conn's mid-section. Then the sixth canto found Conn starting to move.

In the seventh, the champion made an amazing comeback by staggering the challenger with a hard right cross to the jaw. That blow seemed to give him the necessary confidence, for from then on, Conn smashed his foe with both hands, opening cuts above both his eyes and making him hold on during the final three rounds.

After the battle, Conn, looking up from his dressing table, said: "You can give all the left hand fighters to the Indians. They are disgusting to fight."

"I knew I could get him but I just couldn't get started in the early rounds."

Bettina, in his dressing quarters, admitted he was a "spent chap" after the seventh round, but said he cannot fathom the mysterious mauling which caused him to fade about mid-way in the battle.

The champion's next opponent, according to his manager Johnny Ray, who rose from a sick bed to be at his "boy's side," will be Gus Lesnevich, of Cliffside, N. J., on November 17 in Madison Square Garden. The light heavyweight title will be at stake, Ray said.

Then Ray continued, if we win, we will rest until Billy puts on about ten pounds and take on the heavyweights. Probably Lou Nova or Bob Pastor will provide the opposition in that class.

Grove City Prepares For First Grid Clash

(Special To The News) GROVE CITY, Sept. 26.—A freshman, and at least four sophomores, who have never played college football, will be among the starters for Grove City college, when the Groves open the season at Clarion State Teachers college. Graduation of the entire line, with the exception of tackle Joe DePrima, makes the Groves a problem team this season.

Scrimmage sessions of the past week have given Park Ashbrook, of Beaver Falls, the inside track on one of the end jobs, with the other going to Bob Liggett of Munhall, who served in a replacement role last year. At a tackle will be Douglas James of Erie, who saw no action last year. Dean Bricker of Beaver Falls is expected to start at one guard with Howard Bush of Butler at the other. Neither was a regular last year. Bud Bovard of Grove City, substitute center a year ago, is a certainty at this post.

Jack Graham or Thad Penar, both sophomores from Butler, will start at one halfback post for the first time. Mory Patterson, four-year veteran, gets the other post, with Jim Anderson, leading scorer last year, at quarterback, and Jim Taylor of Jeannette, who looked good in several games last year, will be at fullback.

Coach Jim Loveless, who saw a veteran team lose to Clarion last year 7 to 6, is promising nothing for Saturday's opener, although he expects his youngsters to improve steadily as the season advances. With all his strength among the backs, he is forced to act on a theory that a good offense is the best defense, and hope for the best. On the bright side, the enthusiasm shown by his 50-off candidates is an encouraging factor.

BOUNCING FLOOR IS NEW WRINKLE IN GYM DESIGN

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—From now on, not all the bounce in a gymnasium will be confined to basketballs. For now opening soon in New York, is a gymnasium for Rockefeller Center employees which has the latest wrinkle in gymnasium construction.

The feature is a floating floor, which will absorb the jolts of those participating in the many physical activities of the gymnasium. The floor rests on a set of shock absorbing steel springs. To all outward appearance, the floor resembles any other floor. However, when walking across it, one can actually feel the give under one's footsteps.

Americans Halt Rush For Home

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—The Maritime Commission reported today a sudden decline in the clamor of Americans for passage home from Europe.

The Paris office of the United States lines advised the commission that, although the S. S. Shawnee delayed its sailing from a French port for two days, its books were "considerably less" than the 500 passengers it can accommodate.

The commission said three other vessels chartered to provide passage for American refugees were en route to Europe but advised indicated they, too, may be forced to return with accommodations only partly used.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Billy Conn deserved the decision over Mello Bettina in their fight last night in Pittsburgh. He gave Bettina a battering after a slow start. In the fifteenth it appeared Conn would knock Mello through the ropes into a first row press seat directly in front of the writer. Billy Marquart deserved the award over Emil Joseph whom he floored five times and Billy Soose lost a decision, he should have had, to George Abrams. There were many New Castle fans at the fight. . . . The Cincinnati Reds can win the National league pennant today by defeating the St. Louis Cardinals in a twin bill. Frank La Porte, 59, former major leaguer, died at Newcomerstown, O., of heart disease. . . . Basil James rode three winners. Dotted Swiss, Brown Moth and Soigne at Belmont Park, Monday.

RED WINGS TO MEET COLONELS

(International News Service) ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Bud Parmelee, a veteran right-hander, will take the mound tonight against Mike Ryba, another right-hander who won 20 games this season, when the Rochester Red Wings of the International League and the Louisville Colonels of the American Association open the 21st "Little World Series."

It has been estimated that it would need a mathematical expert some five hours to figure out all the movements needed to catch a baseball—a thing the mind and eye are able to do in a fraction of a second.

In virtually sewing up the pennant in the last few games, the Reds have won 16 of their last 20 starts against 18 out of 21 for the Cards and they have split even against each other in 18 games this season.

In the only games played yesterday in the majors, the New York Giants trimmed the Boston Bees, 6 to 5, in the National league, and the Chicago White Sox turned back the St. Louis Browns, 4 to 3, in the American.

Says Prehistoric Man Once Lived In Southwest Iowa

Archaeologists Discover Traces Of Cultured Race Along Missouri River Bluffs

(International News Service)
GLENWOOD, Ia., Sept. 26.—Archaeologists have discovered that a cultured race of prehistoric men dwelt in southwest Iowa a large, manor-like houses on the bluffs of the Missouri river.
Excavations of circular depressions which Iowa farmers for years have called "buffalo wallows" led to the discovery.

Dr. Charles R. Keyes, director of the Iowa Archeological Survey, was in charge of the excavation work which has resulted in the uncovering of 12 houses within the last year.

From evidence remaining of the buried houses, Dr. Keyes was able to reconstruct their appearance in prehistoric times.
"They were square, ranging from 25 to 36 feet, about 20 feet high, with walls made of posts from 8 to 14 inches thick," he said.

Roofs Of Grass
"Roofs were thatched of parairie grass laid on the cross beams and plastered with clay and covered with earth a foot deep."
"The houses were built partly underground and insulated to insure warmth in winter and coolness in summer. A fireplace was located in the center of each house and large storage pits, in which charred corn was found, revealed that much food for winter was stored."

The excavators found remains of bone implements and pottery on the floors.
"This was evidence that they were a race of advanced culture," said Dr. Keyes, adding:
"The location of the homes— from a quarter to a half mile apart— indicated that they dwelt in peace."

Stock Market Little Changed

Prices Drift Lower At Opening Of New York Market Today

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—The stock market drifted lower today in continued quiet dealings, with the fractional changes of the two preceding sessions again the rule. Featuring was the independent strength and activity in rails.

Buying in the carrier section reflected the sharp gains in freight traffic, which has brought a widespread program of rolling stock replacements and additions. Several stocks in the group climbed to new highs for the year, but gains were mostly small.

Steels were soft despite the further spurt in operations to the best level in more than two years. U. S. Steel was down almost a point before meeting support, while Bethlehem, Crucible and Youngstown Sheet & Tube suffered lesser declines.

Motors were a shade under last night's final quotations. Coppers and electrical equipments lost about as much.

Douglas in the aviation section, DuPont in the chemicals and U. S. Rubber in the rubbers each bucked the general group trend to chalk up small gains.

Continental Can dropped more than a point at one time, but American Can registered a modest gain.

International Harvester was down almost a point in the farm implements, but Case held at its previous close.

JUST MOVE YOUR MOUTH LIKE FISH

(International News Service)

CHICAGO.—The humuhumunukunua—a fish with a human face—is on exhibit in Chicago today.

The humuhumunukunua—a fish with a human face—is one of five kinds of humuhumunukunua. Also on exhibit are five kinds of wrasses, or hanaeas. And rock skippers. And moorish idols.

The humuhumunukunua—a fish with a human face—is part of the catch of 3500 made by a Shedd Aquarium expedition to Samoa and Hawaii. The collection returned to Chicago includes 120 species of fish, and 100 crabs of 18 different varieties.

Two octopi captured by the anglers were devoured by a great fish called the tentacles a fish delicacy. A number of the specimens died on the train enroute to Chicago, suffering from sea-sickness.

Sam Houston, hero of Texas, spent his 13 years in the senate whittling sticks of wood.

Allies Prepare for Nazi Drive Through Belgium

Heavy German troop movements from the Polish front toward the Belgian and Luxembourg frontiers bring Allied fears that the Reich is planning to cross the neutral states, as it did in 1914, in a flanking move around the Maginot Line. Aachen, Germany, has been evacuated by civilians and troops are being concentrated there. Lille, France, also has been evacuated and made a base for British troops. Belgium has her "Little Maginot Line" and forts at Ghent, Antwerp, Brussels and Namur fully manned.

Finally, Russia comes in, and heavy center line (lower right) indicates German-Russian partition of Poland. Warsaw still stands, as does a narrow wedge between Nazi and Red conquests.

FAR INLAND TOWN IS PERPLEXED BY SMELL OF SARDINE

(International News Service)

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—Residents of Woodland, Calif., in the heart of the Sacramento valley, were beginning to wonder if there wasn't something "fishy" about their city.

Far from the sea and with no fish canneries in its midst, the town suddenly took on the odor of a sardine factory.

Then came the official explanation. Because a species of beetle was becoming a serious nuisance, city fathers ordered all elm trees sprayed with a special solution. Into the mix of 100 gallons of water and four pounds of lead arsenate was poured one pint of carline oil.

Legion Declares That 'America Must Keep Out Of European War'

By DARRELL GARWOOD
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 26.—United in one common purpose, to preserve peace and democracy in this hemisphere, the "men who know war" on Monday formally opened the most critical national convention in the American Legion's 21-year history.

Speaking for a million American veterans of the last World War, the legionnaires raised a common voice in declaring that "America must keep out of war" as the first formal ceremonies of the five-day session got under way.

Proceedings of the convention's first session, called to order by National Commander Stephen Chadwick, were interrupted by the appearance of Henry Ford, the motor magnate.

Ford was given a prolonged ovation as he was led to the platform immediately after his arrival in the city. Ford said:

"This is my greatest honor, to be here with you today."

Major battle of the convention is expected to be on whether America can best keep out of war by replacing or retaining the arms embargo. A clash may be avoided, however, if it is determined that this decision should be left to congress, without expression from the Legion.

Thirty resolutions favoring or opposing embargo repeal were to be sifted in committee for possible presentation before 1398 delegates attending the convention. It was regarded as certain that, regardless of its embargo stand, the Legion will demand that American ships and Nationals be kept from belligerent zones.

The Legionnaires heard an address read by Brig. Gen. Frank M. Andrews for U. S. Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring, who was unable to attend. In it, Woodring declared:

"It behooves us as individuals who remember vividly the last frightful slaughter to make certain that this nation shall not become embroiled in these conflicts." Woodring stated that all possible precautions are being taken by the administration, and "an aggressor will not find us in the same state of unpreparedness in which we found ourselves in 1916," but he added:

"I do not wish to imply that we are preparing for war or that we are in any way mobilizing our armed forces. The administration is only taking reasonable precautions to insure that our peace and that our rights as a neutral and as a peace loving nation shall be respected."

"America can and will stay out of war." The Legionnaires assembled in Chicago's historic coliseum where presidents have been nominated. Including Auxiliary members, it was estimated 250,000 were in Chicago for the convention.

Rumania May Deal With Soviet

Territorial Deal May Be Arranged In Order To Frustrate Hungary's Ambitions

By JAMES E. BROWN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Sept. 26.—Rumania may make a territorial deal with the Soviet union in order to frustrate Hungary's ambitions, according to a report in diplomatic quarters today.

This prediction came amid conflicting reports of ominous developments in the Balkans, while official quarters denied that any trouble was expected.

Rumors of heavy concentrations of Soviet troops along the Bessarabian frontier—on the fringe of the area which Rumania acquired from Russia after the World War—persisted.

But a spokesman for the foreign office denied Moscow reports that the Russo-Rumanian frontier was closed.

"Our relations with the Soviet union are completely normal," the spokesman asserted.

There has been no incident along the frontier and we do not expect any trouble."

Back From Visit To Western States

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Johnston Report On Conditions Found In The Dakotas

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Johnston of DuShane street, have returned from a two weeks vacation trip to the mid-west. During their trip they visited relatives at Minot, N. D.

Minot is a city of 17,500 population situated on the Mouse river in the north central part of the state, being the third largest city in the state. The city is the business center for a radius of 150 miles and is a live, up-to-date place. The main crop of this section is wheat which was a good crop this year, after 3 years of failure due to lack of rain.

The soil is very fertile and crops are abundant, when sufficient rain falls. A rancher of 74 years of age, who had spent his entire life in that section reported that he experienced a six year failure and a ten year failure, but the usual cycle is about three year bad and two year good.

Sometimes a hot wind comes when the wheat is starting to ripen and scores another failure as the hot wind cooks the stalk and the grain dries up instead of filling out.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston also visited the bad lands of North and South Dakota and the Black Hills of South Dakota. The most interesting sight in the Black Hills is Mt. Rushmore, where the faces of Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln are being carved.

They were able to get within 1,000 feet of the mountain at an altitude of 5,500 feet, the faces being close to 1,000 feet above them.

Auto Accident Is Probed At Mercer

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Sept. 26.—A coroner's jury investigating the traffic death of Miss Alice K. Riley, 42, Beaver Falls nurse, on the Perry highway north of Mercer last June 18, found that the fatal accident was not due to negligence of any driver involved.

Miss Riley was driver of a car which sideswiped an oncoming car driven by Carl Bovard, of Erie, and then crashed head-on into the second one behind it, driven by Harry Grimm, Clarks Mills.

The inquest was conducted by Attorney Walter Applegate, deputy coroner, in Mercer court house.

French Deny Any Bombing Attack On Zeppelin Works

(International News Service)

PARIS, Sept. 26.—The French air ministry denied Basle reports that French war planes had raided the German Zeppelin base at Friedrichshafen.

"We do not know of any such operation," a spokesman said. Aeronautical circles discounted the reports on the grounds the risks of a 100-mile flight over German territory to destroy a disused base would not be justified. Germany's Zeppelins were last reported in Paris to have been transferred to the interior for use on a Russo-German air line.

PLAN UNDERWAY FOR MEMORIAL TO WHALING INDUSTRY

(International News Service)

NEW BEDFORD, Mass.—A permanent memorial to the once great New Bedford whaling industry is the object of a drive to help preserve the famous whaler, Charles W. Morgan, now ensconced in a concrete base on the estate of the late Colonel Edward H. R. Green.

Thousands of tourists have visited the vessel on the South Dartmouth estate, where it is tied to a replica of one of New Bedford's old-time docks.

Six boats still slung from its davits, the Thomas W. Morgan is fully rigged and completely outfitted for a whaling expedition.

Purpose of the drive is to obtain funds which would insure permanent upkeep of the vessel to preserve it for future generations as a survivor of the whaling industry.
